TSU: Sustain the Gains.

Tarlac State University held its Foundation Week on October 11-14, 2017. The 4-day celebration was filled of activities for faculty, students and even alumni of the University.

Starting the celebration with a touch of pure white, Tarlac State University inaugurates 111th Foundation Week Celebration at the TSU Gymnasium on October 11.

A mass was first attended by officials, personnel and students of the University.

The TSU Performing Arts and Hiphop Dance Group entertained the crowd.

Several public officials were also present in the ceremony, and who also gave their messages such as Hon. Susan Yap, Governor of the Province of Tarlac, Atty.

Numer Lobo, City Administrator of Tarlac City and representative of Mayor Cristy Angeles, and Ms. Emy Ladera.

The Supreme Student Council also showcased their dance moves as they performed during the opening program. University President Dr. Myrna Q. Mallari also joined them in dancing through the beat.

Dr. Mallari presented the gains of TSU for the past years, having its firsts from its existence such as the IMS Certification, Institutional Accreditation, Board Exam Performance and other accomplishments in Research.

A surprise presentation from the TSU Key Officials was also witnessed during the opening program.

Dr. Glenard Madriaga, Vice

President for Research and Extension, gave the final message as he chanted with the crowd "TSU: Sustain the Gains".

On the same day, booths from different colleges were opened.

A jumpstart for the second day of the Foundation Week celebration is the TSU Hydro Run by the Supreme Student Council.

Also, one of the highlight of the day is the Service Awards for the employees of TSU for 10 years, 15 years, 20 years, 25 years, 30 years and 35 years.

Different activities such as a Color Fun Run, seminars, games and competitions were held up to the end of the Foundation Week. During the week, several colleges also held their socializations. The celebration was sealed through the Battle of the Bands.

The College of Arts and Social Sciences (CASS) faculty and staff, led by Dean Agnes M. Macaraeg, College Dean, spearheaded the blessing of the newly renovated Smith Hall (CASS building) last October 13, 2017. Presiding over the blessing was Rev. Father Ramon Christopher Molina.

Present during the ceremony were key TSU officials Dr. Myrna Q. Mallari, TSU President, and Dr. Armee N. Rosel, Vice President for Academic Affairs.

The Smith Hall, home to the College of Arts and Social Sciences, was constructed in 1984 and began servicing primarily the flagship courses of the College of Engineering in 1988. Consequently, the building's utilization was shared by CASS, the College of Engineering (COE), the College of Business and Accountancy (CBA). During the latter years however, the CBA and the COE, now the College of Engineering and Technology or CET, moved to their new buildings, and the former College of Art and Sciences, now Arts and Social Sciences, settled at Smith Hall.
